COUGARS CALL OUT DRILL TEAM AND BAND FOR GAMES TONIGHT

Three Clashes With Ione High School Teams Will Close Mother Lode League Schedule On Home Floor Unless El Doradoans Qualify For Championship Series

After tonight, the high school league basketball games in which the Cougars will participate are all scheduled on foreign courts, and the series of three games with the Ione high school fives will be the last appearance of the Cougars on their home court in a Mother Lode league game.

The only possible exception to this is that the Cougars may qualify for the championship series to decide the winner in the Northern and Southern divisions of the Mother Lode league, in which event probably one of the games would be scheduled locally.

To give the Cougars a grand send-off in their last high school league appearance, the high school student body has arranged for the Girls' League drill team and the high school band to attend tonight's games.

The two student units made their debut at basketball games last Friday night, when the Cougars met Sutter Creek, and added such interest to the occasion that, for the first time in history, the high school gymnasium was taxed to capacity by a basketball crowd.

Tonight's battles against Ione open at 7 o'clock when the C teams take the floor. The B team game will be at 8 o'clock and the A team game at nine o'clock.

The Girls League drill team of 36 members, directed by Miss Lucia Hotchkiss, of the faculty, will perform during the evening and the high school band, led by Charles W. Ball, will entertain the fans during dull moments and assist Miss Marilyn Rupley, cheer leader, with Cougar songs.

Pioneer Day On Tuesday

Shakespeare Club Will Mark Occasion With Pot-Luck Luncheon At Clubhouse

The Shakespeare Club will conduct its annual observance of Pioneer Day at its meeting on Tuesday and as a special feature a pot-luck luncheon will be served at the clubhouse Tuesday noon. All members are urged to attend and to plan to assist with the luncheon.

The choral of the club will hold a practice at the clubhouse on Tuesday at ten o'clock in the morning.

The program meeting of the club, on Tuesday of this week, has Clyde R. Berriman, of the Institute of Forest Genetics, as the principal speaker. Mr. Berriman discussed the work being done at the institute and invited members of the club to visit the institute.

Mrs. Beatrice Woodward, representing the state tuberculosis association, was an additional speaker, reporting on the generous response to the sale of Christmas seals, and speaking of some of the work in the prevention and control of tuberculosis which the purchase of the seals each year at Christmastime sponsors.

LINDBERGH'S RETURN TO ENGLAND SOON, SAYS MORROW REPORT

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., (UPI)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh plan to return to their home in England in about 10 days, it was reported today.

The report, credited to a person close to the family of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, Mrs. Lindbergh's mother, said the flier had about completed the business which brought him to this country on Dec. 5.

Both the Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh, it was said, are eager to return to their two sons—John, 5, and Land, born coronation week—who remained at Long Barn, the Lindbergh home in Kent, England.

The Lindberghs have stayed at the Morrow home since their arrival.

New Oregon U. Prexy Visits School

EUGENE, Ore., (UPI)—The new president of the University of Oregon, Dr. Donald Edb, was looking over his new post here today. With him was James "Rabbit" Bradshaw who may be Oregon's next football coach. Dr. Edb, who is from Stanford University, will assume his duties in the spring.

COUNTY FAIR DATES TO BE SET SOON

Western Fairs Association Now Meeting At San Francisco To Schedule Expositions

Dates for the 1938 El Dorado County Fair may be announced in the near future and possibly will fall during the first two weeks of October.

This was announced Friday morning by George E. Faugstad, chairman of the board of directors of the El Dorado County Fair Association.

Chairman Faugstad reported that Arnold N. Weber and Clarence Collins, of the fair directorate, were at San Francisco Thursday attending the annual meeting of the Western Fairs Association. Mr. Weber returned on Thursday evening and Mr. Collins planned to remain through the Friday and Saturday meetings of the association.

"The Western Fairs Association," Faugstad explained, "is an organization which meets to outline the dates for various fairs throughout the state of California and in some nearby states so that dates may be arranged without conflict, and so that dates may be arranged on a schedule which creates what you might call a regular circuit for those fair attractions which move from one fair to another."

"We have asked for dates for the 1938 County Fair to be set sometime during the first two weeks of October. Of course, we won't know definitely about the matter until Mr. Collins returns."

Faugstad said the fair directors feel that the dates suggested will likely be marked by favorable weather, and were also considered advantageous in connection with plans for the display of fruits of the county, as well as other resources.

STATE FARM WAGES BEST IN NATION: $3 DAILY AND BOARD

Statistics prepared under date of January 14 by the United States Department of Agriculture and released today through the San Francisco office of Associated Farmers of California, Inc., again provide proof that California farmers are paying their workers more than is paid for similar labor in any other part of the nation.

The official government figures show that in California the average farm wage is $3.00 per day, without board. The average for the country as a whole is $1.61 per day, or a little more than half what is paid in this state.

The lowest wage, 80 cents daily, prevails in South Carolina. The highest wage outside California is paid in Connecticut and averages $2.85 daily. In Oregon the average is $2.35 and in Washington $2.60.

"These government statistics," says Fred Goodcell, executive secretary of Associated Farmers, "provide positive proof that California growers have been paying fair wages to their workers. The farmers here compete in the nation's markets with the farmers in all other sections of the country. It is economically impossible for them to continue to raise wages while their competitors throughout the nation pay approximately half what is being paid here."

"We invite the labor agitators now busy in California to transfer their activities to those states where the lowest wages prevail, for if they can induce our competitors to pay more and thus better the economic situation, then our farmers will be glad to raise wages in this state. We are determined that California shall be the banner farm wage state, but you cannot raise the banner too high while others are keeping it at half mast."

Wide Interest Shown In Gold Anniversary

Although El Dorado County's civic celebration of the 90th anniversary of the discovery of gold at Coloma is confined to the Gold Discovery dance, at Coloma Hall, on Saturday night, January 29, Ray Rosenberger, Coloma postmaster, reports an active world-wide interest in the importance of the occasion.

Rosenberger says he has received 164 letters, which came from Hawaii, Canada, South America and from 29 states of the United States, asking for information about the occasion or requesting that letters be mailed to collectors bearing the postmark of the anniversary date.

It is understood that some consideration is being given to a proposal for a civic celebration of the occasion at a later date in the year when weather conditions may be expected to be more dependable.

SKIERS PLAN BIG SPORTS WEEKEND

Hundreds Expected To Visit Snow Fields; C. of C. Aide Raps Erroneous Publicity

Hundreds of winter sports enthusiasts are expected to spend the weekend in the American River canyon, with the promise of fair weather and ideal skiing conditions.

Ample snow, the highway open to Lake Tahoe and points east, are two features which are expected to attract a large number of winter sports enthusiasts from the lower country to the El Dorado County winter sports area.

Placerville ski fans are planning a great turn-out Sunday as a demonstration of their appreciation to the state Division of Highways for keeping U. S. Route 50 open to travel to the summit and Lake Tahoe.

According to reports received Friday morning from Wallace M. Ripley, secretary of the El Dorado County Chamber of Commerce, advance arrangements have been made to supply the wants of a record crowd in the American River Canyon at Riverton, Pacific House, Kyburz, Twin Bridges and at Echo portals, while those who continue into Lake Valley will find accommodations at various resorts.

Ripley said Friday morning he is addressing letters of protest to the two San Francisco morning dailies, calling their attention to omission, on the one hand, and inaccuracies on the other in their Friday morning reports on snow conditions and winter sports prospects in this section.

FARR-BRADDOCK BOUT ON RADIO TONIGHT AT 7 O'CLOCK

NEW YORK, (UPI)—James J. Braddock, having passed several crossroads in a career which has included winning and losing the world's heavyweight championship, comes to what may be the final one tonight when he meets Tommy Farr of Wales in a 10 round bout.

The Welchman, who surprised everybody himself by going the route in a title fight with Joe Louis last summer, was a 2½ to 1 favorite over the Jersey Irishman.

The fight is tentatively scheduled to start at 10:15 p. m. Clem McCarthy will do the talking over the NBC Blue network.

"These government statistics," says Fred Goodcell, executive secretary of Associated Farmers, "provide positive proof that California growers have been paying fair wages to their workers. The farmers here compete in the nation's markets with the farmers in all other sections of the country. It is economically impossible for them to continue to raise wages while their competitors throughout the nation pay approximately half what is being paid here."

"We invite the labor agitators now busy in California to transfer their activities to those states where the lowest wages prevail, for if they can induce our competitors to pay more and thus better the economic situation, then our farmers will be glad to raise wages in this state. We are determined that California shall be the banner farm wage state, but you cannot raise the banner too high while others are keeping it at half mast."

PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY McLEMORE
United Press Staff Writer

ARCADIA, Calif. (P)—Professional football is the greatest sport in the world but never will have a chance to prove it, until the men who operate it get some sense into their heads.

Don't quote me on that. No sir, because I was born with red hair and a working knowledge of the laws of libel. The man to quote is Dick Richards, radio tycoon and owner of the Detroit Tigers. He told me that at Santa Anita while we lounged against the bar, drinking a chocolate float and tearing up tickets on a black animal named City Slicker.

Richards has owned the Detroit Lions for four years. In 1934, his first year, the club lost $31,000. The next year it dropped $16,000. In 1936 it came out of the red to make $23,000 and last year it returned the tidy sum of $35,000.

Mr. Richards has no patience with such meagre returns. Not that he needs the money or is greedy, because he isn't. But to employ his own words: "I am weary unto death of seeing the greatest sport in the world, and one that should be the biggest money maker, being butchered by men who won't come to their senses."

As we made confetti of our tickets on City Slicker, I asked Mr. Richards what he thought professional football needed most of all. He had a ready answer.

"We need a high commissioner. One whose name would immediately give the game dignity and standing. It lacks both right now. We should appoint a man as czar whose reputation would bring us the solidarity and standing we need. My choice would be Grantland Rice. Everyone knows him as a great gentleman and a keen student of sport."

Richards maintained that Rice, or some one similar to him, would have a tremendous influence on the public.

"There's no use kidding ourselves," Richards said, "the public right now looks on pro football as more or less fly by night business. It isn't of course, but the country doesn't know that."

The Detroit owner then expanded on the perfect setup that pro-football has. "Try and name me another sport with such a golden layout," he said. "Unlike professional baseball, pro football never has any lack of players. Each year, as surely as the sun rises in the east, a new crop of stars is produced. And they come to us ready publicized. When they graduate the sports writers have already built them into prominence."

Mr. Richards expressed more regret than the celebrated Mrs. Otis when the name of "Whizzer" White was mentioned. Mr. Richards had set his heart on having "Whizzer" in the Lions' backfield next year. He had the inside track on the Colorado star, because the Detroit coach, Dutch Clark, is a Coloradoan and had coached Whiz in his freshman year. Everything was pretty well set for White to sign with Detroit when the star was given the Rhodes scholarship to Oxford. White, with fine show of sense, dismissed football from his thoughts.

But Mr. Richards was very disappointed, and under pressure admit-

FOREST SERVICE REPORTS
REFORESTATION OF 153,000 ACRES

BY FRED BAILEY

United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The Department of Agriculture is supervising national reforestation at the rate of more than 150,000 acres a year, according to a report by the U. S. forest service.

The forest service reported 153,000 acres of national forests were replanted in trees last year, bringing the total during the past three years to 502,000 acres. This compares with 95,000 acres replanted in the preceding seven years.

Last year the service directed the planting of 145,530,000 trees in 30 states. This was in addition to 44,000,000 trees placed in shelter-belts and farm wood-lots.

The reforestation centered in burned-out and cut-over areas where regeneration of the forest cover is not taking place efficiently under natural conditions, the report said.

Trees used in the planting were produced in 31 forest service nurseries. The Civilian Conservation Corps co-operated in a large measure in the reforestation and in removing fire hazards in timber regions.

E. I. Kotok, director of the California Forest and Range Experiment station, with Mr. Connors, administrative assistant, and Mr. Jefferson, of the regional forest service engineering office, were in Placerville Thursday and were joined by Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith in a visit to the Institute of Forest Genetics, which is a branch of the California Forest and Range Experiment station.

Mrs. Solomon Says:

Almost limitless are our desires, but few are the things needed to give real comfort.

Honey

The use of honey instead of sugar makes a pleasant variety of sweetness. Warm the honey and drip it in tiny threads over your fruit cup, which should then stand several hours or overnight in the refrigerator. Cream honey with butter and use it for sandwiches, waffles, or griddle cakes. Blend a half cup of warm honey with a cup of finely chopped pecans or other nuts and use as a sandwich filling.

Add two tablespoons of honey to your recipe for buns or biscuit, or substitute it for half of the sugar in your cake recipe. Make a custard pie, adding honey and chopped almonds to the milk and egg mixture. Use honey for the meringue of a lemon, apricot or chocolate pie. In short, in any recipe which calls for sugar, use honey for half the amount of sugar.

Fresh honey may be bought at this season of the year. In pails or cans, one can get a very good grade of strained honey—just the thing for these recipes—at a low price.

Lentil Soup

Bean, pea and lentil soup is a very nourishing, inexpensive, and may be a very delicious dish. Soak dried lentils, beans or peas over night. Drain, add cold water and one onion, one carrot, salt, cayenne pepper, celery seed and mustard to taste. Simmer until tender, which will be about three hours. Strain through a sieve, reheat to the boiling point and serve. Other herbs or hot sauces may be used to vary the flavor.

Winter Marmalade

Many a housewife, because summer fruits were expensive, she had company, or was away on a trip, failed to put her usual supply of preserves to spread on the winter bread. Here is one which may be made from materials now available:

Drain the liquid from a can of crushed pineapple. Add enough more liquid to make two cups altogether. Add two cups of sugar and one pound of cranberries. Cook for five minutes, then add the drained pineapple, the grated rind of one orange and the pulp and juice of two, one fourth cup of chopped crystallized ginger and cook until thick. Add a half cup of chopped nut meats. Almost any canned fruit may be used in place of pineapple.

Knitted Fabrics

The looser the weave in a knitted article, the more likely it is to stretch. It should never be hung on clothesline but carefully patted into shape and dried flat. Such garments do not require pressing, but if one wishes a very smooth article, they may be pressed gently, on the wrong side, to avoid giving them too high a luster.

If there is danger of ruining a knitted garment by washing it in water, a non-inflammable dry-cleaning fluid, such as carbon tetrachloride, may be used. Enough of the liquid must be used to dissolve the soil and it must be thoroughly rinsed to leave it clear. Delicate articles, not much soiled, may sometimes be cleaned by covering them quickly with fuller's earth, powdered magnesia, French chalk or even cornmeal. Wrap them in a paper and let them stand for several hours; squeeze them gently in the powder, then shake and brush them to remove the cleaner. Repeat the process if necessary.

Take the measurements of a knitted garment before it is washed and gently ease it into the same size and shape. To use a ruler stick to stretch a straight edge will prevent fulness and irregular spots.

ped in a blanket to keep it from freezing. One inventive woman made canvas covers which covered the bedroom radiators completely. She left the heat turned on, that the room might be partially warmed, but each night slipped these covers over the radiator.

To make such a cover, one uses a length of canvas twice the height of the radiator. This piece is connected by side pieces which fit the ends of the radiator and the whole sewed up on the machine. The seams and bottom may be covered with braid trimming. Loops make convenient handles to lift off the cover.

Sunlight Homes

So sunlight conscious have we become that several houses in Europe have been built to be turned on their foundation and follow the sun, like a sunflower. Glass roofs, made of prisms similar to those in city sidewalks, is another means of admitting sunlight to homes. Woe to the housewife who pulls down the shades for fear it will fade her rugs!

Not only are we bringing more sunlight into our homes, with glass walls, glass roofs and enormous windows, reaching from ceiling to floor and across the whole side of a room, but we are building "sun decks" on flat roofs, where we may take a sun bath or sit of an evening and enjoy the cool breeze or the moonlight. Porches are coming into fashion again and doors or living rooms open onto terraces. Back yards are also being equipped as dining room and kitchen with dining table, brick outdoor stove or electric grill and small sink which afford every convenience for picnic meals at home.

Child Clothing

The small child needs clothes which will endure hard usage, which are loose enough that he can play freely in them, warm enough, but not too warm, which allow him to stand up to his full height and to run with ease, which can be easily put on and taken off and managed without difficulty at the toilet, and which are of good quality.

To buy well, a mother must know how to distinguish between clothes which are well made and of good quality and those which are made for eye appeal. Defective goods and workmanship are often covered up by trimmings and fanciness. Examine carefully the material, the seams, the button holes, try the garment on with thought and be sure it is fade-proof and pre-shrunk.

The Radiator

Large radiators in homes heated by hot water or steam, are not beautiful and take up valuable wall space. Cabinets to hide them are on the market. Newer homes have the radiators hidden in the wall or underneath the floor and only a grill shows. An uncovered radiator will cause a dirty wall above it. The housewife can prevent this by making a cloth cover which fits snugly over the top and back of the radiator, leaving the front open.

If you have the windows open on a cold night, the radiator should be wrapped.

The women's clubs and the men's groups, many of them, have cancelled their meetings for lack of opportunity

A daily newspaper is important and, however much it may fail to attain the goal you may set for it, is an asset to any community and whether it fails to publish because of labor troubles or for the failure of the community to recognize its value, its absence is a distinct loss to its community—if the newspaper is fulfilling its duty in public service to the extent of its ability.

Deaths and funeral notices are being broadcast, but what's going on at the city hall, or who will speak at the Lions or Rotary, along with births, weddings, divorces and lawsuits are kept dark secrets.
